Five small-sized models have been added to the Orient Stretto series in the Contemporary Collection. Three models with white, navy blue and brown dials come in a case diameter of 32.1 mm with metal bracelet. Each features a distinctive dial design with a sunburst finishing culminating in an arc and three-dimensional wedge-shaped indices.

The remaining two models feature an original dial design with classical Roman numerals, diamond-cut indices, and glitter printing to give the watch a mystical expression. Both models come with an easy exchange leather strap for added convenience. The leather strap is easily detachable by moving the lever of the spring bar, allowing the wearer to change the appearance of the watch to suit their own preferred style.

Each model is equipped with a solar-powered quartz movement that converts energy obtained from sunlight and other sources into electricity, eliminating the need to replace batteries and enabling a thinner, more elegant case design. Enhancing the inherent attractiveness of the watch with advanced technology and designs that suit the sensibilities of the times, these models are sure to become must-have items for your daily style.
